Sutoh Yahee 1650-1752 / Yakumo Town, Matsue City 270×280×170(cm)

In order to save the village from frequent floods, he decided at the age of 56 to cut off the hard andesite rock mountain by using only the chisel and the hammer. He was 97 when he completed the Mt. Tsurugi excavation project to change the river root. Thus he saved the villagers and died at the age of 102. In August of 2014 we produced his bronze statue with bronze from America at Tai' erzhuang, Shandong Province, China where the fierce battles between Chinese and Japanese forces were fought with great casualties from both sides. The 63rd Regiment of Japanese Army from Matsue also took part in the battle. On August 1, 2014, the Day of Water, we placed the bronze statue near the Izanami Mausoleum where the people sent off their young ones to the battle fields.

Nucleus

Wa

The Korean Peninsula and the Japanese Archipelago located at the place where the nuclear powers meet.

We don't know any country which has given up its nukes after declaring having some. Since Japan and the Republic of Korea are both under the nuclear umbrella of America, we must have a scenario that we will take our responsibility for the history of mankind to help the DPRK become the first country of denuclearization in history.

Blessing Permanent Peace

Peoples' United Nations initiative
Announced in Beijing in September of 2008

An intergovernmental organization to keep world peace and sustain the interests of the member nations through negotiations. Following the agreements of Yalta Conference in 1945, the five nations of Allies of WWII occupy the permanent seats of the U.N. Security Council.

The members are expected to have rational arguments on equal bases to create a platform of sympathy where perpetual cycles of opposition, integration and unification take place. It is a place to produce new kinds of 'Culture of Wa', making the best use of the fruits of modern peace studies and standing positions of each nation.
